

SUNDAY

MONDAY

Dolphins care for sick members in their pod, just as families care for one another.

TUESDAY

India celebrates National Pollution Control Day to raise awareness about the importance of clean air and safe living.

WEDNESDAY

It's International Day of Persons with Disabilities, a day that reminds us that everyone has unique abilities worth celebrating.

THURSDAY

It's Wildlife Conservation Day. Did you know, snow leopards' thick tail helps them balance on steep rocks.

FRIDAY

Celebrate World Soil Day by growing a plant in a small pot and see how soil gives it life.

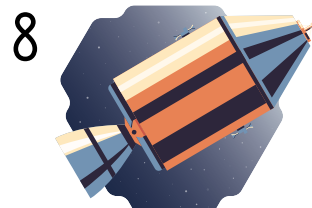

SATURDAY

Polar bears have black skin under their white fur to soak up the sun's heat.

It's Armed Forces Flag Day, a day to thank our soldiers. Write a note for them and post it on RobinAge.com.

Apollo 8, the first mission to orbit the moon with astronauts, launched in December 1968.

It's International Anti-Corruption Day. Play a board game without cheating—honesty makes winning sweeter.

Penguins take turns keeping their eggs warm in icy Antarctica!

Did you know, the Himalayas are still growing taller every year!

Owls can rotate their head almost all the way around—up to 270 degrees!

The world's tallest Christmas tree ever put up was over 67 metres high—taller than a 20-storey building!

In 1972, astronaut Eugene Cernan became the last person to walk on the moon.

Sea turtles can live to be more than 100 years old.

Elephants are known to celebrate victories—they trumpet loudly when happy!

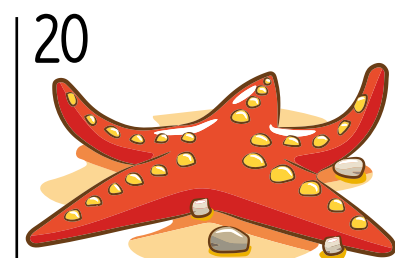

The Wright brothers flew the first aeroplane on this day in 1903.

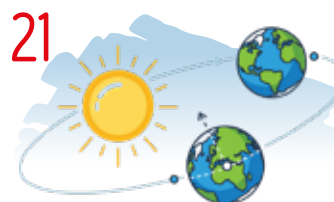

Camels can drink up to 200 litres of water in just three minutes!

Honey never spoils. A jar of honey found in an ancient Egyptian tomb was still edible!

Starfish can regrow a lost arm.

It's the day of the Winter Solstice—the shortest day and longest night of the year.

India celebrates the birthday of math genius Srinivasa Ramanujan as National Mathematics Day.

Today is Kisan Diwas, a day to honour the farmers who grow our food.

Reindeer have special hooves that spread wide like snowshoes to walk on snow.

It's Christmas Day! Did you know, the tradition of decorating Christmas trees started in Germany over 400 years ago.

Poinsettias, native to Mexico, are called 'Christmas flowers' because their red leaves look like petals and bloom only in winter.

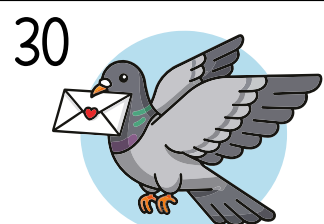

Koalas sleep up to 20 hours a day!

The world's largest snowflake ever recorded was 38 centimetres wide—bigger than a pizza!

Bar-headed geese fly over the Himalayas to reach India each winter.

Carrier pigeons were once used in wars to send messages.

It's the last day of the year. Write down one good memory from 2025 and one wish for 2026.

